

A QUESTION OF LOCATION

IN THE EVENINGS friends go looking for me in the coffee-houses, where they find a glass of cognac emptying slowly slowly on its own — but what else was I to do given that I existed always on the other side of life.